Janesville's contribution to the $100,000,000 Red Cross war fund which closes today, and with a number of teams to be heard from there is excellent possibility that the full quota of $14,000 allotted to the city, will have been secured before the last few hours of the week's drive are over.

Actual collections to date, as reported to the state headquarters this noon by President H. S. Lovejoy, show that the city has subscribed $11,124.77. In addition to this amount there is well over a thousand dollars in the hands of the teams, which, because of technical matters, could not be listed in the official statement, but which represent an actual increment

Thus with approximately $12,500 collected, the various campaign directors are today more optimistic than they have been since the opening of the campaign. That there is every likelihood that the city will respond was made, is the belief of those who have watched the campaign from the inside, and who know of the generous offers yet to be collected.

With a number of teams yet to report the work of the morning, and with the amounts collected by the women of the city still unlisted in part, the contributions secured throughout the afternoon were ex-

Reports from about the county, though not in every case representing the total amount which has been collected in the several communities, already indicates that Rock county has passed its allotted amount of $20,000. Dr. Edgerick's phenomenally large the following donations are listed, in each case where an estimate has been made it was a minimum to allow for error on the official report made to state headquarters: Evansville, $1,200; Milton (estimate) $400; Milton Junction (estimate) $800; Rock Prairie, $439; Orfordville, $1,256; Clinton (estimate) $1,500; Fulton, $335.60; Lima (estimate) $150; total:

In addition to the amounts listed from the various manufacturing concerns, which represent the contributions of the office and shop forces, there are not to be heard from a available individual who had not already been solicited, was listed this morning and immediately after luncheon practically all of the canvassers started out to round up the least few dollars necessary to bring the city's contributions up to the allotted figure. While there was a big job ahead of them, many believed that they would be successful.

Loan, the response in the city has been representative of every element of the population. The various campaigns in the shops and manufacturing plants have in every case met with a success that was evidence of real sac-crisis of the country, on the part of the employed men and women. There were comparatively few subscriptions above the one hundred dollar figure, and there were less than fifty in all.

"While it is not my part to thank anyone for a true evidence of patriotism," declared Campaign Manager Thomas B. Hojan this afternoon, "we do have the responsibility of making sure that our hands, cleanly ap-hundreds of cases I know that the donations were made only at a very real sacrifice. There was scarcely a hand-out of people in the city who refused to give anything, and in many of those

WILL LECTURE ON CITY PLAN OF THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Arno B. Caemmerer, Assistant Secretary of National Commission of Fine Arts to Talk.

In a lecture to be given later in the week in this city, Arno B. Caem-merer, who is visiting his mother, Mrs.
Johanna Caemmerer, of the city of Washington, will combine not only a delicious description of the national capital, but will explain the city development plan upon which Washington is being developed.

Mr. Caemmerer is the assistant secretary of the National Commission of Fine Arts and the federal board which has charge of the development of the city in an advisory capacity. The lecture will be illustrated by about one hundred and twenty slides, and will cover the historical and artistic development of the city from the day when only block houses were on the site down to the present day. He will also consider the plans which have been worked out for the future.

Mr. Caemmerer has given his lecture a number of times in Washington itself and in other cities and affords Janesville people an opportunity of seeing at the Washington development plans which are world famous.

"Washington in being developed," declared Mr. Caemmerer, "is an explanation of the best according to a definite plan, rather than in the hap-pazard way which characterizes the growth of most of our American cities. The earliest scheme was formulated by a Frenchman, L'Enfant, in 1791. Later on, however, this plan lay dormant for sixty or seventy years, until the Chicago World's Fair called attention to the necessity of a definite plan."

"Then Congress created a park commission for the District of Columbia, resurrected L'Enfant's plan and adapted it to the modern needs, and these revised plans are now being carried out in detail. In 1910 Congress created the National Commission of Fine Arts, and gave the body advisory powers with the injunction that plans for public buildings, monuments, etc., be submitted to them that the best possible from an artistic standpoint might always be obtained with the minimum expense. The duties of the commission have been enlarged from time to time by executive orders until they now cover practically every building and other celebrations and acquisitions of works of art by the government."

DRAFT REGULATIONS FOR 4TH CELEBRATORS

Mayor and Police Chief Plan to Keep Screaming Eagle Muffled Until at Least Next Tuesday.

Chief of Police P. D. Champion and Mayor James A. Fathens are assembling a list of regulations to be enforced on the Fourth of July.
The rules are in the rough today, but will be polished up and announced shortly, possibly tomorrow.

The fourth rule and one that city officials and the police department will endeavor to have adhered to, is the ban on explosives and other celebrating devices until next Tuesday.
Before Young America and his "still-kid" puter "tear loose" in a regular old fashioned observance of the national anniversary.

The supply of fireworks and pyro-technic displays will be just as much in evidence in Janesville this year as previously—except, perhaps, on Colonel Nonetuch and his equally famous troubadours and trappings prance before the multitudes of surrounding communities from a distance of hundreds of miles, as far back as January. A communication to Mayor Fathens from a New York City commissioner some time ago, and to the effect of placing a ban on explosives with a view of conserving gunpowder supplies, roused dealers who had already contracted for fireworks. The communication was promptly by the United States entering the conflict against Germany, and came months after manufacturers had completed and had sold their stocks. A number of dealers, who were not permitted to sell stocks already laid in. After learning of conditions, Mr. Fathens decided that he would ban policy to have a ban on fireworks under present conditions.

PLAYGROUNDS OPEN;
ATTENDANCE BIGGER

First Day's Total Ellipses Figures of Best Day of Last Season.

Attendance figures taken on the four playgrounds of the city prove that the plots are as popular as ever this summer. Although rain plagued the playgrounds from the opening Monday morning, the attendance in the afternoon and evening was above standard. The Webster school lead the list with one hundred and twenty-five children in the afternoon and one hundred and fifteen in the evening.
The Washington and Jefferson followed closely behind.

The addition of the women directors on the plots has added much to the direction of the play for the girls and the younger boys. Due to an abundant knowledge of the methods of conducting the pastimes of the younger people they are able to teach them many things which have been tried on the playgrounds of this city before. The boys on the west side of the city will be under the charge of Victor Hemming while those of the Adams and the Jefferson grounds will be directed by Mr. Raymond.

The work of getting the tennis courts at the Webster, Jefferson and Washington schools in shape is progressing apace. The backdrops and the courts have been repaired and the Washington plot so they will be ready for use this evening. Tomorrow the courts at the ing.

Jefferson school will be repaired.
Three courts will be installed at the Washington, one at the Webster and two at the Jefferson.

RECAPTURED LAND BLOOMS LIKE ROSE FOR FRENCH TROOPS

With the French Armies, June 26.— Less than three months ago, the French armies took back from the Germans a vast territory, blackened and devastated as though God himself had just passed over it in his most terrible scourge. Today, under the magic touch of the French armies, this thousand square kilometers of redeemed France is blossoming and blooming like a rose.

To a person who passed through this district last year after the German hordes had passed, and who passes there today, the change almost surpasses human belief.
The contrast is so great that one is tempted to believe that the French armies had passed, and who passes
there today, the change almost sur-
passes human belief.

Nothing has been seen in the direction of the French armies, who know other things than merely military operations, have found the means of saving thousands of trees.
Throughout the entire district devastated by the Germans there were thousands of trees that the close pursuit of the French kept the Germans from having time completely to destroy them.

Instead, the French kept the trunk of the tree, which with a few days' exposure to the sun would be sufficient to kill peach, plum and apple and cherry trees that had been planted a century, attaining their then actual productiveness.

These trees presented the easiest problem. The wounds were merely bound up like the wounds of a soldier, and the French kept the trunk of the tree, which with a few days' exposure to the sun would
be sufficient to kill peach, plum and apple and cherry trees that had been

Large Amount of Work Turned in to Local Chapter to Be Sent to Milwaukee Headquarters.

A very creditable amount of Red Cross supplies were turned in to the local chapter yesterday by the Philo-mathian club and will be sent to the headquarters in Milwaukee.
The following is the list: 100 naukins, 100 handkerchiefs, 100 cloths, 50 handkerchiefs, 50 handkerchiefs, 25 bed sheets, 2 suits of pajamas, 12 surgical sponges. The linens were all boiled, beautifully ironed and tied up ready for shipment.
The committee of the local chapter,
which has only twenty members,
and have been working one afternoon a week for about six weeks. They intend to keep on through the summer, doing as much as they can in this line of work. The committee was formed by the suggestion of Mrs. J. R.
Whitney, Mrs. T. O. Howe and Mrs. E.
H. Farnsworth.

STANLEY G. HORWOOD GIVES SONG RECITAL

Janesville Young Men Shows Marked Ability in Program Last Evening at Library Hall.

The third and last recital of the season of the pupils of Prof. J. S.
Taylor was given last evening at Library hall, when Stanley G. Horwood was the featured soloist in a pleasing program of song numbers. The selections had a wide range of thought and sentiment, from the stately, solemn notes of "The Star-Spangled Banner" to "Mozart's" through the tender melodies of "Dreamy Days," by Ashford and the quaint fancy of the "Floral Dance" by Moss, to the strains of "The Two Grenadiers," by Schumann, which brought the program to a close.
Perhaps in DeKoven's "Armorer's Song" was the quaintest of the songs, and the quality of the recital was of the highest.
Horwood, who in addition to the musical studies, carried on with Prof.
Taylor, has been taking the college course at Milton this year, and his bright and clear future for the splendid voice of this young man, coupled with the capacity for its thorough education, displayed by Mr. Horwood.

William P. Langdon, locally prom-low was elected as vice president; Oscar Yahn was re-elected to the office of treasurer, and Arthur E. Mc-Kinney was elected as secretary of the club for the year was elected.

They are Gardner Kalvalage, Arthur Karberg and George Sennett.
The retiring board of trustees reported that all the club would be possible for the club to re-enter its quarters in the West Side Carle block some time late this week. At present the rooms are undergoing a thorough renovation. It is planned by the Lakota club to equip with new furniture and decorations throughout.
A donation of ten dollars was made to the Red Cross by the club.

OLD DUMA BUILDING CENTER FOR VOTING FOR ALL THE RUSS

(NOTE—This is the third installment of a graphic picture story of conditions in Russia today, just received by mail from William G. Sheppard, correspondent in Petrograd. The fourth installment will be published tomorrow.)

Petrograd, June 26.—The whirlpool of voting in Russia centers in the old building, used to meet. Folk of almost every shade of opinion in Russia have their headquarters there. Votes, telegrams, letters, delegates pour in from the remotest corners of Russia, from the edges of China and Japan, from the Black Sea and the Crimea. Here you see soldiers direct from the front lines, who have been selected as delegates to the national committee of soldiers at meetings held under the auspices of the national committee, farmers who have come as delegates to the peasants' national committee, workmen of all trades, and girl students, fired with the zeal of new Russia, throng the muddy-floored building after school hours, singing songs or watching the warlike harpists of the revolution as they pass to and from their offices. At all the portals stand grim soldiers, with bayonets fixed. You must have a pass to enter this building. "What do you have passes?" I asked at the office of the commandant. "Russia is a free country." "We don't want any reactionaries to enter the building," was the reply. "Four tremendous impressions, after I had entered the building which is now the center of the Peoples' Russia, was that women, waitresses, barmaids, were everywhere, working alongside the men at the various committee headquarters. "Do women vote as well as work?" I asked Vladimir Perazitsky, head of the bureau of the Soldiers and Sailors' union. "All over Russia, in all meetings, women are voting with men," he responded. "In the new Russia they vote equally with men." That was the first realization of the future I got after entering the famous old Duma building. But in the building, amid all the dirty and cluttered, I found men and women, I found thought and floods of new theories for Russian government.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, June 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Law of Chicago were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Cleveland. Mrs. J. B. Dybvik of the town of Spring Valley, who had been spending the past few weeks at the sanatorium at Waikanae, returned home on Sunday. Her many friends are glad to learn that she is not improved in health. Mrs. John Haugen is quite poorly and under the care of a physician at her home in the town of Spring Valley. Her son is also confined to his bed. Miss Jessie Egan of Janesville came to Orfordville on Sunday and spent the day with relatives here. Owing to the washout near Milwaukee, the mail service to the city of Milwaukee was badly crippled, there being no mail car either at 11:20 or at seven in the evening. The mail did not arrive until Monday. On Friday evening there will be held at the school auditorium a Red Cross meeting for the purpose of organization and the adoption of the constitution of the order. People in this vicinity have become very much interested and it is expected that there will be a good turnout. The Red Cross fund reached twelve hundred dollars on Monday. Russ Williams and Raymond Caver spent Sunday in attendance upon the meeting of the Epworth League rally at Port Atkinson. They report a most excellent time. Dr. Forbush was an early morning visitor in Janesville on Monday. He went to assist in some surgical work that was performed there. Mrs. John Vignani was operated on by Dr. Geniwick on Monday and Eva Hamblin on the same day underwent a nasal operation at the same place. Mrs. John Vignani entered Mercy hospital on Monday and underwent an operation there for appendicitis. She is reported as doing well. COMPANY M NEEDS FIFTY MEN BY SATURDAY

Will you be one of them, or wait to be drafted?
TO THE YOUNG MEN:

If you enlist with the local company you are among personal friends. If you wait for the draft, no one knows where you will be sent or into what branch of the service.

All young men of Janesville and the immediate territory have been registered as subject to military duty under the selective draft. No one knows whose name will be drawn from the wheel.

Why wait for this? Why not show your patriotism and enlist in Company M of the First Wisconsin National Guard today?

Fifty more men are needed at once to recruit this company to war strength according to orders from Adjutant General Holloway, W. N. G., received today.

Every man enlisting in the national guard units reduces the number that will be required by the selective draft.

Government statements have been made that those young men who enlist now will be given rapid promotion. In many cases this promotion offers a more lucrative position than the young men have held in civil life.

Go to the Company M Armory on West Milwaukee street and enlist. Do not wait to be drafted.

The First Wisconsin Infantry it is expected will be called to Camp Douglas before July 10th and later mustered into the United States service and ordered for duty elsewhere.

It should be a local pride that should urge the recruiting of Company M to full strength. Be a patriot. Enlist. The officer in charge of the company will be at the armory at all hours of the day or night. The company must reach the full quota before June 30 in order to have enlistments count against the draft.

The County Board of Defense,
F. P. Starr, Secretary.

Enlist Today. Get Your Friends To Join.

THE RED CROSS.

The Red-Cross campaign has come to a close. Right here at home it has been most strenuous. The business and professional men, the young women, and special committees of women, who left their home work to aid the cause, all deserve special credit. It is no easy task to comb the city for fourteen thousand dollars in the face of the many demands made upon merchants and business men all day long. Still the sum raised is a source of great satisfaction and credit should be given to the volunteer workers who have so untrillingly given of their time and experience to this great and glorious cause.

"If You Can't Fight, Give!" has been a slogan that has counted. There have been few exceptions to the rule. Men who took bounty from the state and also from individuals during the Civil war period, able to give and give liberally, refused on the grounds they had offered their life once for a consideration; while on the other hand, foreigners—men just over from Germany, the imperial government of this nation is at war with, gave liberally, according to their means, even though many were unsolicited. Others, many where hundreds were expected, gave tens, and others where tens were suggested gave fifties. So the world goes. The man who shouts loudest for the great supremacy of this nation would prefer to loan his money at eight per cent than donate to a cause to save thousands of lives. It is always so. However the average citizen of Janesville brings the final figure up to a total that we may be proud of. The thanks all goes to those who worked on the firing line, those tireless young ladies who gave their time in compiling the statistics and receiving the reports in the Commercial club headquarters, and in the county as a whole to the various committees desired. Edgerton did itself proud. Evansville, Milton, Milton Junction, Clinton and all other towns and many rural communities have turned in surprising results. Every dollar counts. The men at the head of this vast undertaking are working for the good of humanity without pay and without any hope of any financial benefit. They have worked these past few days "To beat the Hun" and spread the cause of humanity to every nation, regardless of whether they be foe or friend, gentle or unfriendly, so long as they need assistance. The twelve disciples of Christ were sent out to preach the gospel to all the world. The men with many privations, many discouragements, but to those who are a Christian world. Your dollars, you have subscribed, go to friend and foe alike. Your dollars preach what Christ told His Disciples to teach: "The word of God and love for all mankind." The Gazette extends the thanks of the American Red Cross society and of the people who will reap the benefits of your gifts.

WHAT'S THE MATTER? Such men as Baker and Daniels in two such important positions as the war and navy portfolios are mistakes. —Janesville Gazette, Rep.

"Why, why?" The Gazette doesn't get anywhere parroting, and it's never offered a reason. If these are bad men, let's get rid of them. But a little bit of American fair play requires facts.

Thus the Milwaukee Journal takes up the cudgels of the administration following the old Bourbon policy of "The King can do no wrong." True, the Gazette repeated the statement of the majority of the press of the nation in saying the two men referred to were mistakes in the positions they held. But at the same time it expressed its own personal opinion that men who are actually qualified for the important posts of secretary of war and secretary of the navy should be in charge of these two important departments at the present.

Josephus Daniels' history of mismanagement of his department is on the records and has had sufficient publicity without being repeated, and the discovery that the war department, of which Baker is the head, could not even furnish the regular army with sufficient rifles for foreign service, let alone arm and equip the national guard units, should be enough on that score.

Ever since "Mister" Baker likened Washington and his band of patriots at Valley Forge, to Villa and his band of cut-throats in Mexico, the opinion has been growing that a person who would make such intemperate sort of a speech is not worthy of public confidence. Now that his department has shown such wonderful inefficiency it is strange the Journal, which professes to be so ultra patriotic, should seek to defend either of them. Be it as it may, the retention of these two men in the cabinet is a mistake that the country will rue in the days to come.

NO DISPLAY. This nation has gone quietly about the preparation for war. The hot-headed diplomats have tired of their clamor for instant action and in their place has come the sober realization of what this war will mean.

Thus far the United States has signed its readiness by enrolling nearly ten million young men of military age on June 5th. Have subscribed something over a billion dollars more for the Liberty bonds than was needed for the hundred million dollar Red Cross fund. It has not been accomplished by blare of trumpet or a blast of music, but with the same quiet, determined expression that our forefathers wore when they gained their independence, brought about the close of the raids of the Barbary pirates, told France this nation could not be fooled with, signed the treaty at Ghent with Great Britain, after the second war, when General Scott, Commander of the army, caused the surrender of Richmond and caused the rule of Spain on this continent by taking away Porto Rico and the Philippines and giving Cuba its freedom. When Germany marched into Belgium, England rushed to arms. There were recruiting sergeants on every corner. The bands played and the first army to check the Germans was recruited. Here in the United States the only great display of activity has been in the press of the country. They have urged enlistments, have urged young men to join the colors, have urged farmers to plant more crops and have suggested to housewives they might aid in the great war scheme by saving in the daily menus and waste materials. That congress and the federal government fail to appreciate the power of the American press is evidenced by their desire to curb its activity. To curtail its news output, to decrease its real intrinsic value, but at the same time they would spend millions on billboard advertising, circulars, mailing long-winded speeches that were never delivered in congress, but printed "under permission to print," and other methods that take the bread and butter out of the newspapers' mouths, and still insist they keep on boosting. There is no more loyal coterie of the United States than the newspaper fraternity. They stand for the nation, first, last and always. They are trained what to print and what not to print, and they should be given the right to decide for themselves what is news and what is matter material to an enemy. If the department of justice was as busy as the average newspaper editor these days there would be less desecration of the American flag, less abuse from ignorant aliens, who earn their living here and whose sympathy is across the water, than there is. It was only Saturday last a man of foreign extraction, born doubtless across the water, who enjoys the right of the American citizenship, called a resident of Janesville carried in his pocket, "a dirty rag." There is a place for just such undesirable citizens as well as there is for an American citizen who will deliberately drive an automobile through a company of state guard drilling on a public street, basing his right as that of a citizen and a taxpayer to use the public highway when and how he pleases. Patience when and how he pleases. It is overtaxed. We did not rush into this war, we did not enter it with a biare of horns and drums, but now we are in it, it behooves every true citizen to be loyal or take the consequences. Many a word said in joke actually represents the true sentiment of the individual, and if the authorities do their duty a few examples will set at rest this spirit of unrest that pervades the minds of some undesirable citizens.

CZECHS ACTIVE. News from Vienna, via Amsterdam, that three regiments of Czechs troops had deserted the Austrian colors for those of Russia, even at a time when the Russian advance seemed its weakest, is most encouraging news. The American representatives of the Czech nationality have long ago announced their fellow countrymen were not in harmony with the cause of the Central powers and urged their fellow countrymen in this land of the free to refrain from aiding the rule of the dual empire by returning to either or sending material aid. It should be a matter of gratulation that the Czechs in Europe are in accord with the Czechs of this country except in a few isolated cases.

One housewife recently sighed and said, "I would be perfectly happy if I could have enough potatoes to cook any way I liked just once. One dollar's worth does not last at all and the old days when I feared putting in a few bushels at forty cents a bushel for fear they would spoil is gone. I would store my cellar full if they sprouted, every blessed one of them." Amen.

Even Liberia, the little negro republic on the west coast of Africa, have declared war on the Hun. Who next? Perhaps the Hottentots, who suffered the whip of the German slave-driver will stand up and shout for the allies when the news reaches them that domination of the world by "Me and Gott" is over.

It would appear as though Venizelos has at last arrived. His efforts to compel Greece to live up to its agreement with Serbia, the brain that conceived the Balkan alliance, thwarted though it was by Constantine for a time, appears to have dominated the Grecian situation and the world can hope for the best.

The man who has a garden up the river, down in the city and on some vacant lot is having his hands full these days with weeds. Even if the potato bugs do eat all his product he should be given a special medal for trying. Meanwhile let us hope for the best and a reduction of the high cost of living.

Dr. Ely of Madison is suggested as a congressional possibility. No man who has ever studied under Dr. Ely can doubt his ability, but unfortunately ability does not count in politics. However, this is not entirely a the-retical age, as yet, although some people may tell you so.

Still that legislature hangs on and does not know enough to adjourn and go home before they do any further damage. They are like a bunch of hungry congressmen; they never know when to quit.

POSITION WANTED. Two would surely seem the job supreme. Has he who's ever jobbing. From place to place on earth's broad face. In pleasant travelogue-ing!

The lucky chap! Oh, what a snap. Has he who daily paces. In gay carousal through foreign scenes. And fascinating places.

To Singapore and far Lahore. Where dwell our Eastern brothers. To Hindustan or through Japan. And oh, there's lots of others!

To wend afar to Zanzibar. For Disco Bay to hike it. To Cagayan or Ispahan. My goodness, how we'd like it!

The burtonholmes who ever roams. From Sarawak to the Malay. Leaves home's small frets—and often gets. His moving picture taken.

We'd like to get his job, you bet. His riders in ships and stages. We'd like his play and, by the way, We'd like to get his wages!

HAPPY THOUGHT. It's hard to have both a Dark Past and a Bright Future.

Ain't it? And have you noticed, by the bye, As on through life you've coasted, It's usually the smaller Fry That Boli when they are Roasted? Saving different things. A pleasant way to spend a day off Is to look through an old trunk or something to see what you want to throw away. Here you will find many things you have always saved. Feeling that some day they might be useful.

Objects of this description seldom fail to cause laughter. You are confused to see how carefully you kept things simply because it would be wasteful to throw them out. Moreover it is amusing to find that you can't yet make up your mind on the point.

You can't get away from it things of this sort are certainly comical. After you have laughed over them, then soberly you decide really to get rid of a lot of them. Largely a bunch of junk after all. Never have found any use for any of it yet. Pick up a few and out goes all the rest. Business of picking them over. Pair of gloves that don't fit and were never worn. Give them to someone. Who? (Five minutes thinking. You could use that. Wanted some just the other day. Why didn't you look for it then? Darn it.)

Three odd cut links. Might find a mate to one sometime. Throw 'em out and you won't have to. Two leather bill books. Might come in handy sometimes. Been saving them three years. Better luck next three years. Fountain pen clip. Just bought one last week! Darn it! Throw everything out.

Roof Gardens. Things blooming there are very few. Save now and then a rose or two. Yet why they call them "gardens" we Have always found it hard to see. Altho it's true one often notes They're sown with lots of wild oats. It's little that they realize of use. Except at times a lot of deuce. And who has ever seen a hoe Or spade on one of them? And so As "gardens" they are mostly fakes Still they have often lots of Rakes!

The Man who has Plenty of Sand seldom fears the Slide.

Nice Guy. I like Horatio McDoo. He's wearing a Last year's straw, too!

TODAY'S SNEER. Back Numbers are scoffed by quite a number who were never Numbers at all.

XX. A man (we will call him Mel) Though his name doesn't matter a bit) Had an itch and bewz he Didn't know where it was he Couldn't scratch it and died in a fit!

"Pauline," said Mr. Dumkopf with a kind smile, "I think I'll take you to see 'The Lady and the Sardine' to-night. They say it's a swell musical comedy, and the occult has just put drops in my eyes, so I'm afraid I go alone I won't be able to read the program."

"Oh, Adolph, isn't that just too sweet and thoughtful of you?" sniffed Mrs. Dumkopf.

And they changed back from slippers into shoes and went to the Opera House Theatre, where "The Lady and the Sardine" was holding forth.

"Now, Pauline, read the program and tell me what's going to happen," ordered Mr. Dumkopf.

"Five minutes went by, and he exclaimed, 'Well? Well? Haven't you read it yet?"

"In reading it," said Mrs. Dumkopf, "and five minutes went by in the same direction, and the lights began to go out for the overture."

"Well tell me as far as you've got, then!" demanded Mr. Dumkopf irritably.

"Well, you see, Adolph," explained Mrs. Dumkopf, "I started at the end, where I always start everything. I read, and read it said the gowns are by Madame Drooly, hips by Singer and Sanger, shoes by Dinty Bros., wig by Paul Yoota, false noses by the Imperial False Beezer Co., shoe laces by Twiddle, rouge by Linch Studios, teeth—"

"Never mind!" roared Mr. Dumkopf so loudly that four ushers started towards him. "Never shall I take you to a theatre again!"

And he never did.

EQUIPMENT NEEDED FOR BATHING BEACH

City Council Will Be Called Upon to Make Appropriation of $160 Toward Playground Activity.

The city commissioners are to be asked to provide sufficient funds for the purpose of establishing a municipal bathing beach or municipal bathhouse with the equipment which goes with it. Victor Fleming, in charge of the playgrounds of the city, and Prof. C. F. Hill of the industrial school, were present at the Commercial club meeting yesterday and the question of the swimming pools and the conditions surrounding the present equipment were quite fully explained.

Four years ago a tent 14x20 was purchased and has been used since as dressing quarters for the girls and boys, who have alternate days for the swimming exercise during the summer months. Mr. Fleming stated that the attendance would average twenty-five girls and fifty boys. At the present time there are seventy girls and 150 boys who attend the swimming class and use the equipment. He felt that many older women and men would be glad to take advantage of the swimming pool if there was a provision made to supply proper accommodations. Miss Johnson, an expert swimmer, one of the crack swimmers of the University of Wisconsin, has been employed one of the playground teachers and is willing to devote as much time as necessary to teach swimming.

Prof. Hill, during his residence at Whitewater, was secretary of the playgrounds committee which also had charge of the swimming pool in that city. He gave a brief outline of the benefits of the pool, and suggested that $150 would provide bathhouses, rollers and a "shoot the shoots." This small amount, he said, would answer the purpose by pressing into service Mr. Raymond and one of the manual training teachers, who with the aid of the boys could erect the buildings and other apparatus.

The Commercial club directors felt that $1000 could be none too much to use in connection with this work, and referred the matter to the civics committee for conference with the mayor and commissioners.

Supt. H. H. Faust is much interested in this branch of athletics and he is very anxious that proper swimming facilities be provided for the children of the city.

Arno Cassemmer of Washington, D. C., was a guest of President Parker at the club meeting and gave a brief and interesting outline of the past few years in making Washington beautiful.

A committee of directors visited the Jones Dyeing and Bleach works yesterday afternoon to confer with the officers of that concern regarding their future in Janesville.

FOOTVILLE

Footville, June 26.—Merton Fish of Whitewater was in town on Thursday evening. He was accompanied by his sister, Mrs. M. Fish.

James Heaps of Milwaukee was in town last week, being called here to attend the funeral of his sister, the late Mrs. J. Heaps.

The Misses Langdon of Janesville were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey last week.

The Circle Girls will meet on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Clifford Owen.

Mr. and Mrs. Tripke welcomed a fine baby boy to their home on Friday. Both mother and babe are doing well under the care of a trained nurse.

Mrs. Felton of Milwaukee is here on a visit at the home of Mrs. F. R. Lowry and Mrs. P. P. Wells.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. John Honeysett on Thursday afternoon.

Many from here attended the ball game at New Glarus on Sunday afternoon and, as usual, Footville was on the winning side.

William Timm and daughter Rilla motored to Green county on Sunday for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Beryman entertained relatives from near Janda on Sunday.

Many from here attended children's day exercises at the Christian church in Janesville on Monday evening.

James Mabie and wife came up from Rockford for a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Snyder, and attended the services at the Christian church. They were accompanied by another lady and gentleman.

Mrs. Maude Lowry is enjoying a visit with her cousin, who accompanied her on her return trip from West Virginia, where she had been visiting for several weeks.

Miss Bessie Curry began work in the condenser last week.

Upwards of one hundred thousand pounds of milk are being received each day at the condenser, and it requires quite a force of hands to take care of it.

Miss Sophie Timm resumed work at the condenser, having been absent several days on account of illness.

Miss Fannie Richards came up from Chicago on Saturday for a visit at the parental home here.

Mrs. Taylor of Ottumville and nieces, Mrs. Miller and Miss Lucetta Ward, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Honeysett on Saturday. The two latter named ladies recently returned from a visit with friends in Michigan and stopped over for a visit with relatives in Ottumville and vicinity en route to their home in Cameron, Wis.

Next Sunday being patriotic Sunday, appropriate services will be held in the churches here.

Mr. and Mrs. Matlock have been entertaining company from out of town.

During the severe electric storm on Monday morning, some damage was done to the Masonic hall and it is reported that a barn on the Harbeck place was struck by lightning and burned.

Harry Walton and wife are visiting the latter's daughter at her home in Dakota, and who we all remember as Miss Ida Hetrick.

HUNDREDS AT BIER OF ANDREW JENSON

Business Suspended at Edgerton While Citizens Attend Funeral Services.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, June 26.—The citizens of Edgerton and the surrounding country limited yesterday in paying a last tribute to the memory of the late Andrew Jenson.

The services were conducted from the Norwegian Lutheran church, and though the little edifice was twice filled to its capacity hundreds of sorrowing friends were unable to gain admittance.

Never before has Edgerton paid such tribute to a departed citizen. Business was suspended in the city and the farmers for miles around laid aside their labors for the day to do their part in honoring the memory of the man who had been their adviser and friend.

Andrew Jenson was a man among men. His was the privilege of doing a big duty on earth, and he did it well. Of the thousands who wept at his bier yesterday afternoon there were few who did not owe something to his life. His was a life of unselfish service, his judgment was relied upon by his countrymen who came to America to adopt this country for their homes.

Seldom did an appeal from a deserving fellow being fail to meet with a ready response from Andrew Jenson. He looked for in every man; he believed it to be a part of every man's duty to help the one in need, and his heart was never disappointed.

The world is better that Andrew Jenson had lived and his city has profited in many ways because Andrew Jenson made it his home for nearly a half century. The city of Edgerton was not shocked at its great loss; it was grief-stricken. The hundreds who respected and loved him had known for the past year that the end was near; they had seen the inevitable.

Andrew Jenson died as he had lived, loyal to his God, his family, his friends, and to the principles which guided his life. His last stroke of pen was for the church he loved and for which he had devoted the past forty-one years of his life to better.

A wonderful lesson could a young man learn from the life of Andrew Jenson. A benefactor, a true friend, lover of everything worth while, always reaching out his hand to uplift the fallen, and the friend to one in need, it is not to be wondered that his host of acquaintances respected and loved him.

Edgerton's most loved citizen has gone to the better land, but his memory will live and be held in reverence and love. His many kind deeds will long stand as a monument to his memory, more substantial than marble. Two years in the making and carved with a hand that found pleasure and satisfaction in solving every kindness along life's pathway.

Milton News

Milton, June 26.—The local Red Cross campaign started Friday with the following teams on the job: Country territory leaders, E. D. Biles, W. H. Walters, W. B. Wells, G. W. Davis and Miles Rice. In the village, Mesdames R. Richardson, Helen Kelly, W. G. Alexander, L. B. Bahcock, Miss Mary Borden and J. I. Bond. The local chapter now needs 250 members, to which additions will be made. PIANO PUPILS APPEAR IN PLEASING PROGRAM

A very delightful program of musical numbers was given yesterday afternoon at Library hall by the pupils of Miss Sehrt and Mrs. Arthur. The eight years of the pupils varied in age from eight years to sixteen or more, but they all seemed to have that intelligent appreciation of good music which comes from competent instruction. Four were pupils of Mrs. Arthur. Four were pupils of Mrs. Sehrt. The piano numbers contributed also by the pupils of Miss Sehrt, were a revelation in the way the children of the younger set, may be taught to know and love their musical studies. There was a sureness of touch and a depth of feeling evinced by all, which showed that their work was not mechanical. It is pleasing to know that such a ground work of knowledge is being laid among our young people, as will elevate the musical circles of the future.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Antonio Moreno, who won his reputation playing leads in such photodramas as "The Island of Regeneration" and "Keanedy" square, has joined the Astra company.

Moreno was born in Madrid, Spain, on September 26, 1888. He came to the United States at the age of four, and much of his early education he acquired in the public schools of New York City. He began his theatrical experience in a summer stock company at Northampton, Mass. Then followed engagements with Mrs. Leslie Cartier, Tyrone Power, Constance Collier, Wilton Lackaye, William Hawtrey, and various other theatrical celebrities.

Some of the plays in which he appeared were "Phais," "C. O. D." and "The Man from Cooks."

PATRIOTIC CHINESE

In a coming picture there is a Chinaman who was born and raised in the United States and who was in Admiral Dewey's flagship, the U. S. Olympia, when he was in the S. S. Chinese Manilla in 1898. His name is Charles Fang. "I am thirty-six years old," said Mr. Fang, "but I am ready to go, I care not whether it be the army or the navy. I was in the navy four years. At Manilla in 1898 I was steward in the wardroom of the Olympia, and afterwards I served through the campaign against the Philippines Islands. My parents were Chinese, but I was born in San Francisco. I have an honorable discharge from the navy and I expect that I can get an even if I am older than I was when I first fought for the Stars and Stripes."

"MRS. RAFFLES' CAREER" FOR JULIAN ELLING

"Mrs. Raffles' Career" written by Gelett Burgess and Carolyn Wells in collaboration, has been chosen as Julian Elling's first photoplay. The impersonator of feminine types has already departed for the Hollywood studio where Mrs. Raffles will be staged. As the title suggests the story is a farce-comedy dealing with a near-society and near-burglar woman. The script was sent west immediately upon the engagement of Mr. Elling, and work on the stage setting for his picture was begun before his arrival in Hollywood.

Marion Davis, whose blonde beauty adorned "Oh Boy," has written her own scenario for her advent into the movies. It is called "The White Gypsy" and tells the thrilling tale of a little white girl who is kidnapped in infancy and grows up in the environment of a gypsy band. Miss Davis, of course, will play the role of the kidnapped child after she has grown up.

Kathleen Kirkham is engaged to be married. No, just a business man of Los Angeles. His name is W. Harrison Woodruff.

Edith—Yes, I am going to marry Mr. Goldbag.

Ethel—Why, he's old enough to be your father!

Edith—I know, but he doesn't seem to care for mother.

He Stole For Her

She was his "all in all." To her he was the noblest, most honorable man. For her he decided to go straight—for her he gave up the crooked life.

Her sweet influence moulded a new man—but then came adversity—Babette—the girl in the heart of his heart—needed money to go away for her health. He accumulated and gets the money in the old way.

Then came the police. He fled to her—but a turn of Fate comes to his aid—and she never knew.

Gentle in its unfolding—sweet in its play of forces—"Babette" is an emotional play which is as loving as a mother's caress.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have read with surprise and indignation the story of some people on divorce. They seem to be held in bondage by a creed formulated to thousands of years ago. They think Christ was divine. I do not. I do not think that the teachings of a man who lived and died a human being could not build up a philosophy for people who lived under different conditions two thousand years after His death. Men and women are not always joined together by God. Very often they are married by a rogue or a preacher. To impose marriage on two unmarried people who do not desire to marry one another would be an act of enslavement. It is a continuation of marriage on people who have ceased to desire to be married. There is no magic married couples would never desire to separate.

If we admit that a woman unhappily married has a natural right to a divorce, we must then admit that she has a natural right to marry again if she meets a man she thinks she will be happy with. Some think that if a good woman gets a divorce from a dishonorable man, and if later this same good woman should meet and learn to love some honorable man, they should not be permitted to marry, but must be kept apart by threats of hell fire, thus making a hell of their life on earth. It is time for people who have these ideas to get rid of some of that old religious dogma. Yours for freedom. NORA M.

I am for liberalism and intellectual freedom, too, but too much liberalism leads to licentiousness. People who are liberal have to be careful to avoid having loose morals.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE.

Auto-intoxication
Regular time, preferably after each meal, and let nothing interfere with this regularity of habit, for the involuntary muscle of the bowel contracts rhythmically and periodically, just as does that of the heart, though less frequently.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Higher and Higher
About a week ago I wrote you telling of my severe headaches and you advised me just what to do. I did as you said, and I want to thank you sincerely and tell you how much better I feel. I am now free of the headache now. It is great relief to our whole family. I wonder if you can advise me what to do for my hair. It is falling out, and there is so much dandruff. (Mrs. F. H.)

ANSWER.—We are glad you are going up and not down, with your troubles. There is little monogram here, about falling hair and dandruff, a copy of which you may have if you will send the indispensable S. A. E., and dear lady, do not hesitate to moisten your own stamp and address your own envelope.

Internal Derangement of Knee.
April 1915, I wrenched my knee playing baseball. School doctor said I sprained a ligament, and he led me to the swimming pool. After a week, I returned home. Our family physician found I had water on the knee and put me in a plaster cast for six weeks. Then the cast was removed, and he advised "baking" in electric heater. But I had to return to school. Since then, something seems to catch in my knee at times and prevent straightening the leg out. This lasts for about two to fifteen minutes and leaves quite suddenly. I have found that by sitting down again it leaves and I can then walk normally. I walk a great deal, and until the accident played tennis, hockey and baseball, but am now unable to do so. I am afraid to swim alone. What would you suggest? (A. N. A.)

ANSWER.—Internal derangement—possibly loose cartilage, possibly hypertrophied (thickened) synovial fringe pinched in the joint. Wear corsets and elastic knee cap. Operation about only permanent remedy—removal of loose body. Sudden locking of knee is characteristic of such condition, and in some cases it is extremely painful while it lasts.

Household Hints
PINEAPPLE PIE
One can sliced pineapple, one-half cupful sugar, three eggs, rich pastry, whipped cream.

Drain off the pineapple juice, add the sugar and bring to boiling point. Beat the eggs well and pour onto them the pineapple juice. Return to double boiler and cook till thick like a custard, stirring constantly. In the meantime bake the pastry over a deep inverted pie plate, pricking it, especially about the edge, so that it will retain the shape of the pie. Just before serving time spread the custard on the shell, lay on this the sliced pineapple, which should be cut up, and heap with cream. Scatter berries and peaches may be substituted for the pineapple in season. In this case the fresh fruits should be allowed to stand with sugar on them, so that the juice for the custard, and then it will not usually be necessary to sweeten the latter.

CHINESE CHEWS
One cupful dates, chopped; one cupful English walnuts, chopped; one cupful sugar, three-quarters cupful powder, two eggs, one-quarter teaspoonful salt.

Mix all dry ingredients together, put in the dates and nuts, and stir in the eggs after beating them lightly. Bake in a tin as thin as can be spread and when down cut in small squares and roll into balls. Then roll them in granulated sugar.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

(Miss Hoyt will answer personally all letters pertaining to matters of etiquette addressed to her in care of this paper, if accompanied by a two cent stamp.)

When entering a train, the lady precedes the gentleman down the aisle, and takes the inside seat next to the window.

Yes! It is quite correct for you to be married in your traveling costume, which you say is rather a handsome three-piece suit, and your wedding will be the small one. You should not wear the jacket of your suit; and you may wear your hat or not, as you choose, since it will be a home wedding. I think, though, that if should wear a hat and gloves. The wedding announcements are sent out by the bride's family after the ceremony. They are merely invitations to attend upon the bride and groom, who receive them are not expected to send gifts.

S. S. We never correct the social mistakes of other people. One of the first rules of the etiquette is to correct your own faults, but be blind to the faults of others.

Apples Stuffed With Rice. Coffee.
THE TABLE
Mince Ham With Egg on Toast—Mince lean ham very fine, yolk of one egg, and cream, add little nutmeg. Boil small slices of bread, spread the meat over it, break an egg over top of this, and brown in oven.

Savory Rice With Bacon—Two cups rice (cooked) one-half can tomatoes, two slices bacon, two small onions, salt to taste. Cut bacon in squares; add onions (chopped fine) to bacon and fry until brown. Add tomatoes and rice, and cook together a few minutes, then add bacon and onions. Serve hot.

New Turnip Dish. Turnips can be made into a substantial supper dish with the addition of peanut butter. Cover bottom of earthen baking dish with slices of toasted entire-wheat bread, pour over same made of butter, peanut butter, two tablespoons flour, few drops of onion juice, a little pepper and a cupful of beef stock. Boil six medium-sized turnips in extra salt water for ten minutes, then layer on top of above, dot with bits of peanut butter, add bread crumbs moistened with melted butter, and bake in moderate oven half hour.

Baked Potatoes and Onions.—One quart medium-sized potatoes, one quart medium-sized onions, one cup milk, one-third cup butter, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon paprika. Pare potatoes and onions (after washing), put both in sauce pan and cover with water. Add one teaspoon salt; boil fifteen minutes; put into baking dish alternately an onion and a potato. Four milk over, sprinkle with bread crumbs, butter and dash of paprika. Put in oven and bake from twenty to twenty-five minutes. Serve in dish in which were baked.

Cottage Cheese Pie.—Two pounds cottage cheese, mashed fine or pressed through fine sieve; add two ounces cornstarch (a little more cheese is very moist), mix well. Beat three eggs very light and add one-half pound granulated sugar; put into cheese, add flavoring desired and two ounces hot melted butter stirred in slowly; then add large milk to consistency of cream. Line pans with thin dough (either yeast or baking powder and bake.

TODAY'S WAR RECIPE.
From Britain's official win-the-war cookbook: Twelve ounces of barley flour, eight ounces of whole meal, eight ounces of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of sugar, one-half an ounce of yeast, three gills of tepid water. Mix the flour and salt and place in a warm basin. Make a well in the center of the flour. Cream the milk and sugar in a small warm basin, pour in the tepid water, stir, and then pour in the center of the flour. Cover and let rise for three-quarters of an hour, then mix in, and knead well on a floured board. Divide the dough, and put it into greased tins, then it will take half an hour. Bake in oven for three-quarters of an hour to an hour. When the bread is baked the sounds hollow if it tapped underneath. Masticate more and need half as much.)

TRENCH TALES.
"There's another thing," said a British artilleryman, discussing the superiority of the English artillery. "Have you noticed how our chaps have been getting out with smooth faces—well not exactly smooth, but innocent like—and in a month or so of fighting you can see the difference: they begin to get set and stringy in the body. The Fritzies are not so good as they used to be. You get up against a bunch now and you don't fight well but we get more and more of the 'Kamerad' business every day. It's as much up to the people at home to see this thing through as it is to the men in the trench. We need the guns and shells to blow the Germans out of the strong places which they have taken years to build and dig. The folks at home can leave the rest to us. We can do the job all right if they back us and don't get tired."

Says:—"Fox Blend Coffee Goodness is Gotten in the Blending."

THE FLAVOR of the most perfect blends of coffee always fails if the Blending is not as perfectly performed as the greatest experts in the business can do it. By process of elimination—the task of years—we secured the coffee that met with our most exacting tests, then we have the coffee roasted by men who stand highest in their profession. The Blending and Roasting, perfectly done, help to make Fox Blend Coffee the brand that is growing by leaps and bounds through its "downright goodness."

Everyday Wisdom
By DON HEROLD

AN OLD WOMAN WITH HER APRON FULL OF STICKS

45 MINUTES
Four o'clock.
Sitting on a round rock that looks like a milk stool, with our back against a gas factory.

East 22d Street, New York.
Poor people are gathering scraps of wood at a pine box factory across the street. Men are making boxes out on the sidewalk. Twenty or thirty kids are gathering scraps, too. One little girl has a baby carriage full.

Trucks rattle past on their way to the East River, a half block over. The truck drivers look happy, loaded into contentment by the cobblestones.

A bum drags past, smoking his pipe. He looks happy.
We light our pipe.
The beam wavers across the street into the lumber yard at the box factory. Gets chased out. The kids poke at him with sticks. He picks up a brickbat and they scatter. He goes on, looking back threateningly and smiling at his pipe.

Four little girls come up and stare at us. We ask them if we are sitting in their playhouse and they say, "No, we wouldn't play there," and look at the ground and go on.

We look at the ground. Broken glass, clinders, a rusty screw, an old clothespin with one leg half gone. Across the street a horse lifts a bucket and gives his horse a drink. First time we ever saw that in New York.

A few blocks west the Metropolitan tower sticks up.
A quarter to five, by the tower.

RACING MATINEE SET FOR FOURTH AT DRIVING PARK

The fair board directors at noon today announced that all profit from the matinee would be donated to the fund being raised for Co. M.

Driving Park Directors Plan Program of Five Features—Horses in Training Camp Constitute Entries.

Janesville devotees of fast horses and harness racing will have an opportunity to witness the speed boys in training at the local track in action on July fourth. Members of the board of directors of the Big Janesville day announced a matinee for the afternoon of Independence Day.

The program consists of four races with a total of twenty-seven entries and an exhibition dash in the attempt to lower the Janesville track record of 2:04 1/2, held by Joe Patchen, and incidentally to pull down the $100 stake offered by the directors to the horse that can lower the local record.

The first race of the afternoon will be a 2:24 trot, and eight horses are entered. A similar number are listed for the 2:25 pace. The 2:14 trot, the third race, has five entries, and the 2:15 pace has five starters.

Prince Volton of the Smith stables, of Chicago, in training here, will be the choice to make the trial of the lower record of 2:04 1/2, held by Joe Patchen, and incidentally to pull down the $100 stake offered by the directors to the horse that can lower the local record.

It is possible the directors will bring a horse here from Belvidere to pace the Prince in the record breaking attempt. Joe Patchen's time of 2:04 1/2, will be hard to beat, for horsemen at the track stables say—that is, those who are not affiliated or allied with the Smith stable. On the other hand everybody from stable boy to drivers and Smith are confident that the Prince can lower Patchen's time.

The pick of the seventy-five horses in the stables will be seen in the matinee. Already a number of them have made their time. The weather thus far has been against getting them in the pink early, but on the other hand has served to conserve their condition for the opening of the racing circuits. By the fourth, a week from tomorrow, the horses should be in excellent condition.

BUSH LEAGUES FAIL FAST; SOON EXTINCT

Within a very short time minor leagues of a class below A probably will be extremely scarce. Following the lead of A. H. Tarnsey, president of the Three-I league, many presidents of small circuits are expected to agree to a plan which will stop all baseball in these leagues, hold all players for a year, and open again when conditions become better. Coerced action, of course, would be necessary to protect the magnates. The larger minor leagues—the International, Pacific Coast and the American association, and the Southern and Western leagues—probably will continue. They are stronger, have greater populations from which to draw their patronage and are on firmer foundations. The Western, probably, is in a more shaky condition than any of the others named, but Thomas J. Hickey, president of the American association, is the only executive who has suggested closing in the big minors.

A good many people are looking into what makes men change over to W-B CUT and stick to it so. Tobacco is tobacco, but all chewing, isn't all tobacco. You don't have gummy excess sweetening to chew out of W-B CUT, before you get down to satisfaction. The shreds are tobacco, through and through—and the richest, sappiest tobacco that grows. You notice the difference at once—W-B CUT goes twice as far as ordinary plug.

MORRIS MILLER

The New York American league club has presented to the First Reserve New York Engineer regiment a complete outfit of baseball paraphernalia, including gloves, mitts, mask, protector, balls, bats, pitcher's rubber, home plate, etc. The regiment, 1,150 strong, will be sent to France within a few weeks.

The Oakland club, when it notified Brooklyn that it could use the services of O'Mara or Warren Adams, was instructed to ship O'Mara to Birmingham of the New York State league and Adams to Omaha of the Western league.

Jack Murray, lately a Giant, is playing with an independent team in Paterson, N. J. Jack might be managing them. The New York State league team now at good pay had been played square. Ed LaFite is also a member of the same Paterson team.

Catcher George Gibson of the Giants is past the age where he is expected to do any fighting for Canada, but he has sent his oldest boy, aged 18, to the colors. The young lad, closed, hustled to an officers' training camp.

Pitcher Mike Regan of the Reds has found a new way to break up a steal of home. Heinie Zim had home stolen cleanly in one of the Giant-Reds games, but Regan slammed the story, or drill, has been promoted to closed, hustled to an officers' training camp.

The Pittsburgh club, it is said, was willing to along to keep Bunny Brief, but the St. Louis club asked more than was reasonable in the opinion of Barney Dreyfuss, and Barney has been between the devil and the deep sea, with fans demanding that Brief be kept.

Sergeant W. S. Smiley, who has been giving the Chicago White Sox a lot of trouble, is being promoted to lieutenant in the army and the Sox will have to get a new drill sergeant.

Eugene Steinbrenner, who had a couple of trials with Connie Mack and lately has been playing shortstop for the Richmond Internationals, is getting a trial with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Just what kind of a school manager Calhoun is running is not clear, but he probably knows his own business.

Brooklyn discovered finally that Jack Snyder was a catcher of some parts. He had a hard time breaking into the game, but now that he has got in a very little while with regard to the position of substitute catcher, he is wondering if he won't be relegated to the position of substitute catcher now. Well, a catcher should help the Dodgers a lot.

George Twombly's release to Louisville, which he declines to accept, has caused a lot of comment. For the reason that the Bedford boy had been doing quite as well as any of the other Braves outfielders. However, Stallings' disappointment in Twombly's case is greater than with regard to what he has as the Miracle Man expected more from him than from the rest.

Madie Langdon, the Penn State College pitcher who joins the St. Louis Cardinals, left school with his amateur reputation somewhat tarnished. It was disclosed recently that he had accepted money for playing independent ball and he was declared ineligible just when the college team needed him most to round out its schedule. Langdon is bitterly regretting his conduct by the college critics who remark that a man who would throw down his alma mater that way for a few dollars has something lacking in the way of morals.

BELOIT HILL PLANT PLANS MODERN CITY WITHIN CITY.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., June 26.—A city within a city is the magnificent project being planned by the Fairbanks-Morse company here.

At a cost of more than a million dollars, 362 homes are to be erected on a great plot of ground adjoining the city plan for employees of the company. The plans include parks and boulevards, a large club house, theater and restricted business on the big site.

Building will continue throughout the summer and the majority of the "city" will have been completed by winter. It is to be one of the biggest manufacturing "home sites" in the country.

MILWAUKEE RED CROSS BENEFIT FOR TONIGHT.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 26.—Milwaukee will sing war songs at the Auditorium tonight to benefit the Milwaukee chapter of the Red Cross.

More than 1,000 persons will participate including church and college choirs, school children, glee clubs, male and mixed choruses and artists. Hundreds of tickets have been sold and it is believed Red Cross work will be materially boosted by the program.

BELOIT PLANS SHAFT TO CITY'S FOUNDER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Beloit, Wis., June 26.—Beloit's founder and his energetic son are to be immortalized to the city. Plans are well under way for the construction of a joint memorial shaft in the city park for Horace White and Horace Whitte, Jr.

Breslau has a paper chimney which is fifty feet high and proof against fire.

Evansville News

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, June 26.—Saturday evening found a very large and enthusiastic crowd gathered in the business district to witness the demonstration that was to crown the work that the local chapter had been doing during the entire week in the interest of the American Red Cross work.

The crowds began to gather early so that at 7:45 o'clock when the parade passed in review down Main street, it received a hearty welcome from the mass of spectators. Thirty-two young ladies dressed as Red Cross nurses and a large delegation of Boy Scouts headed by the Evansville band made a very impressive showing. After the return to the Red Cross booth the band played several patriotic selections. This was followed by drill of the Boy Scouts and that organization certainly was a surprise to the mass of citizens for the thoroughness and ease with which they drilled. Stirling addresses were made by Rev. Father McDermott and Dr. Blew. Solos were sung by Mr. Babcock and Paul Chase and in many of the songs the Red Cross assembly joined in the singing. The different committees appointed worked long and faithfully. All last week, and that success has been the result of the Red Cross clock as it ticked a 1,250 membership for Evansville, with new names coming in all the time.

The Misses Anna Hodson and Lillian Gibbs spent Sunday in Madison. Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schell and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Schell of St. Atkinson motored to Evansville, Sunday, and were guests of Miss Laura Hill. Mrs. Irving Schell, who is a sister of Miss Hill, remained for a visit while the others returned to their homes.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bliss and family of Janesville were guests at the Eager home Sunday. Robert Bliss and Sydney Travers remained for a longer stay.

The greater part of the test will be given over to reports from numerous committees on tests of various building materials made during the past year.

The meeting will have opportunity for "other tests" through the program is calling for a "recreation period" Wednesday and a golf tournament Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cahn and family of Janesville, Sunday. Ernest Greenwood has returned to New York City after a visit with his mother and sisters here. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carson and son, Leighton and Jay Brink, motored to Janesville, Sunday.

Miss Ethel Frost will entertain a party of ladies Thursday at an afternoon at her home on Church street in honor of her sister, Mrs. Atollie Blaine, and Miss Adelaide Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Devine and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hubbard were Madison visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Coonrad of Osage, Iowa, are visiting Miss Laura Hill.

Sam Helgeson was a Belvidere visitor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Heffron and Mr. and Mrs. James Douglas and son moved to Edgerton, Sunday.

Guy Barnard has returned from Waushara where he has been for medical treatment.

Masters Fern and Howard Stolt are visiting their grandparents in Genoa, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greetsinger and son returned to their home in McHenry, North Dakota, this morning after a pleasant visit with relatives. They are making the trip in their car. Mrs. Ella Brown of Beloit returned with the Greetsingers.

Dr. J. F. Evans of Madison was a professional visitor here Saturday.

Miss Leona Huebsch has returned home from Beaver Dam.

Miss Louise Rowland of Madison spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Frank Cook.

Mrs. Peter Gerry spent Sunday in Janesville.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Cowell of Albany, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cowell.

Mrs. Richard Clifton has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Olive Barnum, in Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Acheson and daughter, Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown and Miss Louise Rowland motored to Janesville, Sunday.

APPROVAL IS GIVEN TO TWO AMENDMENTS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Only two constitutional changes have been approved by the session of the Wisconsin legislature which will conclude its active duties by the end of the week. Of the score of proposals that have been offered, the resolutions of most far-reaching effect have been defeated. The proposal early in the session for the calling of a constitutional convention to change and remodel the basic law of the state met with big defeat in the senate and was scarcely considered by the house.

That the war has had much to do with the defeat of these amendments was evident. When the constitutional changes were under consideration, it was urged that all was uncertain during war. No one could see far enough in advance to shape the destiny of a constitutional change and that the basic law should be left untouched until the war ended.

The two which have gone through propose moderate changes. The first provides that the legislature may fix the compensation of the succeeding legislature. At present the salaries of members are fixed by the constitution at $500 per term. This law, which conditions of living may vary, has aroused revolt in every legislature. Each session, for years past, has suggested amendment for amelioration of the condition of the law makers.

The other amendment provides that the legislature may decrease the number of judicial circuits in the state or may provide for the election of more than one judge in a single circuit. The third amendment, which is likely to pass, makes sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

Amendments proposed and beaten include home rule for cities, passed by the senate, and beaten in the assembly, 44 to 22, receiving a majority of those present, but failing because it lacked a majority of all members; the so-called hustling amendment to enable the state to develop water powers and forests, beaten in the senate, 14 to 8; the short ballot for the appointment by the governor of his attorney general, state treasurer, and secretary of state, beaten in the senate, 21 to 11; the amendment embodying civil service in the constitution, beaten in the senate; the initiative, beaten in the senate; the initiative, beaten in the senate; the initiative, beaten in the senate.

APPROVAL IS GIVEN TO TWO AMENDMENTS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 26.—Only two constitutional changes have been approved by the session of the Wisconsin legislature which will conclude its active duties by the end of the week. Of the score of proposals that have been offered, the resolutions of most far-reaching effect have been defeated. The proposal early in the session for the calling of a constitutional convention to change and remodel the basic law of the state met with big defeat in the senate and was scarcely considered by the house.

That the war has had much to do with the defeat of these amendments was evident. When the constitutional changes were under consideration, it was urged that all was uncertain during war. No one could see far enough in advance to shape the destiny of a constitutional change and that the basic law should be left untouched until the war ended.

The two which have gone through propose moderate changes. The first provides that the legislature may fix the compensation of the succeeding legislature. At present the salaries of members are fixed by the constitution at $500 per term. This law, which conditions of living may vary, has aroused revolt in every legislature. Each session, for years past, has suggested amendment for amelioration of the condition of the law makers.

The other amendment provides that the legislature may decrease the number of judicial circuits in the state or may provide for the election of more than one judge in a single circuit. The third amendment, which is likely to pass, makes sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.
